

Françoise's christening at St. George's Anglican Church in Parktown,
Johannesburg, in October, 1970

Françoise with proud parents and grand-parents!

In October, 1970, Françoise was christened at St. George's in Parktown by Fr. Moore from the Anglican Church. Granny Nicholson had contacted the Bishop in Johannesburg for suggestions; he recommended Fr. Moore who then contacted us.

Tony Ross was the Godfather, Sue McLeod and Daphne Nicholson were Godmothers, but Daphne was not present at the Christening, as she was with Ava in Australia.

During the baptism on an overcast day, the priest put Françoise on the altar, the sun suddenly shun through the stained glass, throwing a light shaft right on Françoise - a good omen!

The Christening party that followed was held at the home of Anno and Derek Warren, in Bramley.
